

KLove Radio serves OKC as a haven of positive programming. We can listen without fear of our family hearing negative/unfamily oriented songs, disc jockeys, etc. I believe that if KLOVE is displaced by LPFM, OKC and several other cities in the US served by KLOVE would be further bombarded by negative programming. We would not have the opportunity to raise our family in an environment like we were raised - where bad words were not allowed over the airways, where violence was not suffocating us every time a song was played, where the family actually mattered and was encouraged to work through problems and to be a strong place of unity. KLOVE radio provides that type of atmosphere. KLOVE encourages family activities, counseling for families in trouble, they play music that lifts your spirits in the darkest of dark days, and their on air personalities actually have a personality that does not promote violence, sexual inappropriateness, or other non family oriented things. Please keep KLOVE on the air and do not let LPFM displace this wonderful radio station that touches more lives than we will ever know.
